Campaign 2025

No. 451

March-April-May 2025

The letter is a resource that brings (the) world's children together. Tapori children are creating a path to happiness and a better future through their messages about friendship, sharing, solidarity, art and expression.

Building a world that leaves no one behind calls for everyone's participation, especially children, because they are the future, they are tomorrow. With our Tapori campaigns, we are calling on children from all backgrounds to build an ideal world that brings people together, regardless of their origin or culture.

WHAT DO CHILDREN THINK ABOUT... ?

OCTOBER 17

NOVEMBER 20

CHARLOTTE from Sénégal

I took part in the celebration on 17 October in Senegal with people from different countries. That's when I understood how important it is to stand up for children's rights, especially the right of every child to a legal identity.

ALLASANE from Sénégal

What I liked best about 17 October was the discussion about legal identity. I came to understand how important a birth certificate is because, without one, it's nearly impossible to have a future.

AMAIA from Bordeaux

What I liked most about the celebration on 20 November was meeting other children and making new friends. I loved the time we spent talking together and sharing ideas. I want to tell other children that we should always be ourselves, no matter how different we are, and that we should accept everyone.

YANIS from Bordeaux

On 20 November, I really enjoyed meeting the other Tapori children from Reunion Island. What struck me most when we listened to the Children's Rights Defender was the right to live in a clean and safe world. I felt really sad when he talked about Amy, who died from cancer because of the pesticides her mum used in her flower shop.

WILLIAN from Reunion Island

On 20 November, I went to Paris to celebrate the International Convention on the Rights of the Child. I felt a bit shy but proud to be with the other children. Luckily, we met the Tapori Bordeaux children straight away, and as we know well, friendship keeps growing.

MELISSA from Mauritius

The theme that interested me most in 2024 was having a healthy place to live. Thanks to this, I learned to grow plants in cans.
